Another change indicated in controversial tax system

There were indications at week's end that the apparently illegal and just-passed county tax structure, which hiked all rural taxes, may undergo another change.

County officials were mum on what kind of change may take place, but indicated it would be forthcoming soon.

County Judge Woody Pond would only comment:

"Even though the commission has accepted Mr. (Bill) Butler's plan, we still have some work that needs to be done on our tax structure in Randall County.

"We are working on what we hope is a plan that will meet the needs of the people in Randall County."

A new plan would knock out last Monday's commission action which perpetuated for another year a tax system which has apparently been illegal at least since 1969.

Commissioners accepted a plan presented by Butler, commissioner of a totally urban Amarillo precinct, last Monday. The plan called for rural taxes to be hiked competitively with taxes charged residents of the cities of Amarillo and Canyon.

It also kept in operation the illegal portion of the Randall County tax structure — the use of different percentage factors to figure the taxable value of real property.

Rural residents of the county would find their taxes hiked by between $5 and $10 if the plan approved last Monday is allowed to stand. About 4000 residents would be affected and the Butler plan would raise about $23,000 for the county coffers.

Butler proposed his plan ostensibly to raise money for fighting rural fires and for construction of rural county roads.

His plan also included a proposal for use of Canyon School District and City of Amarillo tax records to perform a complete revaluation of all property in the county.

Pond would not elaborate on what he has in mind as far as a new or alternate plan is concerned. He would not even comment on whether the plan is an alternate to the Butler proposal.

Various attorney general opinions as well as U.S. Supreme Court decisions make it clear that the tax system in operation at least since 1969 and reaffirmed last Monday is not legal or constitutional.

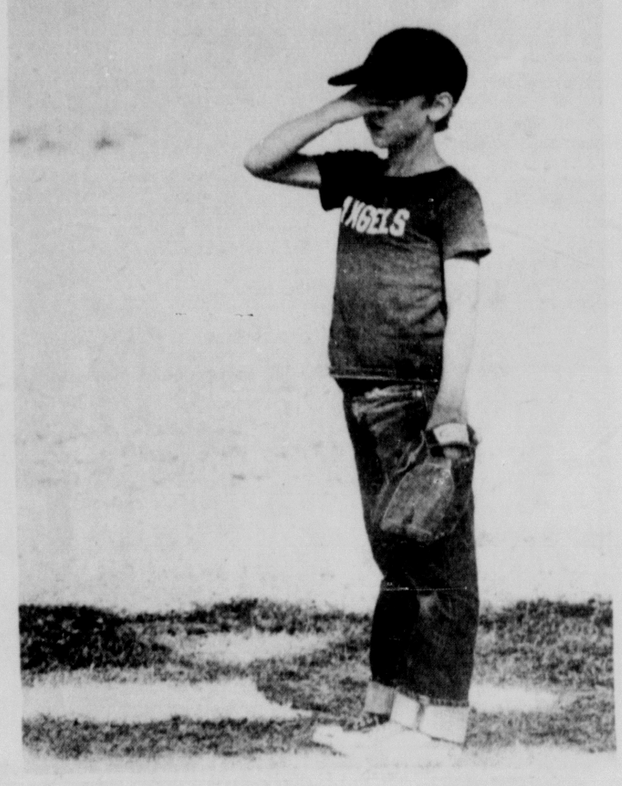

The current taxation system places property on the tax rolls at 100 per cent of fair market value, but then figures taxable value based on two percentage factors.

Commercial property in the county is figured for taxation purposes based on its 100 per cent value. But, residential property is figured on 85 per cent of fair market value.

The Supreme Court in a similar case held the taxing system illegal.

Fourth of July festivities here to include watermelon, fireworks

With barely enough time to recuperate from the big doings of Saturday's Canyon Days Celebration, local residents will be treated to an all-free full-day of activities Thursday to celebrate the Fourth of July.

From 9 a.m. to way after dark, residents can watch baseball games, eat Buffalo Burgers, gorge on watermelon and then watch a traditional fireworks program at Conner Park.

The full day of events is sponsored jointly by the Canyon Chamber of Commerce, the Veterans of Foreign Wars and VFW Auxiliary, the American Legion, Canyon noon and evening Lions Clubs, Kiwanis Club, Rotary Club, Canyon Fire Department and the Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce.

The day will begin at 9 a.m. with a service club baseball game pitting the Kiwanis Club versus the Rotary Club at the little league park. No admission will be charged.

The baseball game is the only event scheduled for the morning. The Canyon Police Department has cancelled its usual bicycle races for all ages scheduled in the past for the morning of the 4th. Police Chief Al Stewart said the races will be postponed and run jointly in September with the chamber-sponsored bicycle races around the downtown Canyon square.

A little league girls' baseball game will be played at 3:30 p.m.

Action will begin again at 5:30 p.m. when all-star players from four Canyon girls' softball teams meet at the little league park for a play-off game.

Ceremonies for the Fourth celebration begin at 7 p.m. with an invocation. Local Boy Scouts will make arrangements for the invocation and the flag raising ceremonies with the National Anthem to be broadcast over the park.

Three activities are scheduled to run concurrently at 7:30 p.m.

The championship play-off for the men's service clubs will be held at the park with the winner of the Kiwanis-Rotary game playing the Lions club team.

A Babe Ruth League play-off game is also scheduled for 7:30 p.m. at the park.

And, the big event — a free watermelon feed — will also begin at 7:30 p.m. in the park.

Several thousand persons attended the feed and fireworks display last year even though the activities followed by only minutes a sudden rainstorm.

Doctoral-level programs eyed

The possibility of offering doctoral level degree programs at West Texas State University is being studied currently on campus.

The feasibility study is expected to culminate in a proposal for establishment of two doctoral degree programs at the university.

Dr. David Wheeler, dean of the graduate school, said last week he is conducting the study to determine the demand for such programs as well as the feasibility of offering them through the WTSU curriculum.

Under consideration are proposals for establishment of a doctoral degree program in educational administration and in agri-business.

Wheeler said the current educational administration program is a six-year offering and could be adapted to the usual eight-year doctoral level program requirements.

He said education and agriculture are natural areas of demand for upper level work in the Panhandle area served by the university.

The university recently developed for offering a master of agriculture degree program.

Wheeler said proposals ultimately will go through normal channels of consideration within the university and then will proceed, if approved, to the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System.

Then, the new doctoral level programs must also be approved by two national college accrediting agencies, who will make on-campus visitations before granting accreditation.

He said the development of the programs could take as long as several years to conclude.

The university has never in its history offered doctoral level degree programs.

The graduate school currently offers masters level work in 29 curriculum areas.

Specialized masters degrees are offered in the fine arts and agriculture and business. In addition, a master of education degree is offered.

Graduate school enrollment at the university has skyrocketed. Last fall the graduate school showed a high percentage in student enrollment.

WT freshmen applications pouring in for fall increase

Early application figures indicate freshman enrollment at West Texas State University could be up next fall after a several years' slump.

Dr. Lloyd I. Watkins, university president, obviously pleased by the report, termed the possibility "a minor miracle."

Freshman enrollment must rise somewhat for the fall to make up for a larger than usual graduating senior class last spring.

Dr. Donald Cates, university dean of admissions, said freshmen applications for admission are up just under 10 per cent this summer over the same time last summer.

Cates is not as optimistic as Dr. Watkins. He attributed some of the increase to the possibility that many freshmen are mailing applications earlier than usual so they can be eligible to come to the campus this summer for orientation and registration sessions.

"If on Aug. 1, they're still up, then we'll be ahead," Cates said.

Watkins, who initiated an active recruiting program last fall when he took over the reins of the university, said the WTSU staff has been working hard to tell the university story to high school seniors in the area.

He noted that figures indicate that area high schools are losing enrollments and enrollments in grades below the high school level are also showing decreases.

One effort to gain high school student interest in the university took two full days of Dr. Watkins' time this past week. He wrote a personal note of congratulations to all Canyon High School graduating seniors and to seniors in other area high schools.

Watkins said he hopes the ini-

Protest expected over tower move

A group of Canyon businessmen will appear before Randall County commissioners Monday afternoon to protest the relocation of a 250-foot radio tower from the downtown square to another site.

Ray Lawrence, who runs a business on the downtown square, said he and several other businessmen will talk to commissioners about keeping the tower downtown.

Commissioners decided during an emergency meeting Wednesday to move the tower to the county barn at 17th St. and 1st Ave. rather than erect it on the square.

Lawrence cited the cost for moving the tower as the primary concern of himself and the other businessmen.

County Judge Woody Pond confirmed he had been contacted about the protest and said the matter will be discussed under the "old business" section of the Monday afternoon agenda.

Pond said the commissioners will not be able to take any official action on the protest until the item can be placed formally on the official agenda for the following week's meeting.

Randall County Sheriff Cliff Longest, miffed that the tower will have to be relocated, said revised figures indicate it will cost the county about $4900 to move and establish the tower at the county barn location.

He said that cost includes a $1750 moving charge, plus costs for construction of an additional auxiliary unit at the county barn and other equipment.

The state Criminal Justice Council, which granted funds to the county for original purchase of the tower and new radio equipment, could pay some of the $4950, Longest said, but there is no assurance they will.

Even if the CJC makes payment for moving of the tower, he said, the county must still pay about $2500 to move the tower and pay for related equipment.

Longest said he's unsure what move to make until following the Monday meeting when commis-

Law is new and untested

Consumer protection law unused here

Either Canyon and Amarillo businessmen are scrupulously honest in their dealings with the public or the public hasn't heard about a new Texas law, just six months old, which requires that they be so.

Randall County Dist. Atty. George Dowlen said he's not had one criminal complaint filed against a businessman under a new portion of the Texas Penal Code which makes merchants criminally liable for deceptive business practices.

The new article of the penal code went into effect Jan. 1 after passing into law during the 1973 session of the state legislature. It covers a wide spectrum, describing as illegal various activities which before passage of the law were considered only unethical or which were alterable only through civil suit.

Dowlen said the new criminal law has become more important for consumers in recent months since the U.S. Supreme Court knocked down a previous civil statute which allowed class action suits against firms which practiced deceptively.

That civil consumer protection act was passed into law about five years ago, he said, and stipulated that a class of consumers could sue a business firm which marketed a substandard, inferior or faulty product.

Dowlen said the civil law was not actually knocked down by the Supreme Court, but stipulations were made in the interpretation of the law which, if met, would make a civil suit prohibitively expensive.

"The individual still has recourse under the act, but if he complained against a major corporation, for example, and they really wanted to contest it, they could wear the individual down on a suit by keeping it in court forever," he said.

The new act gives the consumer recourse through the regular criminal prosecution channels and provides for a maximum fine of $2000 and a jail term of a maximum of a year for a criminal violation of the penal code.

The law provides that the following are deceptive business practices punishable under the statute:

*using, selling or possessing for use or sale a false weight or measure, or any other device for falsely determining or recording any quality or quantity *selling less than the represented quantity of a property or service

*taking more than the represented quantity of property or service when as a buyer the actor furnishes the weight or measure *selling an adulterated or mislabeled commodity.

*passing off property or service as that of another

*representing that a commodity is original or new if it is deteriorated, altered, rebuilt, reconditioned, reclaimed, used or secondhand *representing that a commodity or service is of a particular style, grade or model if it is of another *advertising property or service with intent not to sell it as advertised or not to supply reasonably expectable public demand,

Our World

Americans Pause

By ANN BROWN

Patriotic Americans will pause next Thursday to give thanks for the vision, wisdom, and sacrifices of our Founding Fathers.

Through tension, toil, and tears they brought forth a document second only to the Ten Commandments in simplicity, scope, and justice. And like the Commandments, every law passed to reinforce the Constitution has only served to weaken it.

The basic aim of the men who devised the Constitution was not to limit Americans but to limit government. They knew that government has ever been man's most dangerous foe.

History records that the greatest threat to mankind's freedom has always been government. People seldom lose their freedom to a foreign aggressor before they have already lost it to their own government.

The vast hordes of China have been conquered several times by lesser nations. Apparently, the Chinese were convinced any government would be preferable to the one they had.

E.W. Howe used to say, "The government is mainly an expensive organization to regulate evil doers and tax those who behave; government does little for fairly respectable people except annoy them."

And in the years since Mr. Howe made his sage observation, our government has decreased its regulation of evil doers, and increased its annoyance of respectable people.

Read the Declaration of Independence and note how many of the charges brought against George III could now be brought against our federal government. Notice especially charges 10 and 11.

"He has made Judges dependent on his Will alone, for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries."

How many men on the Supreme Court have attained their powerful positions solely through Presidential favor?

"He has erected a multitude of New Offices, and sent hither swarms of Officers to harass our People, and eat out their substance." Could anyone give a more accurate description of the Bureau of Internal Revenue, the Politicrats, the Oshacrats, ad infinitum?

Very limited powers were granted the federal government by the Constitution, and the tenth amendment specifically states that "powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States respectively or to the people."

Those wise men knew that a local problem could best be solved by local government. The local government is the very foundation of democracy; if it fails, democracy will fail.

Government should function like our autonomic nervous system. When it works properly, we are not aware it is there. It is only when one's heart, lungs, or stomach malfunctions that he realizes he has them.

What happens to the person who ignores obvious warnings that all is not well within his body?

Eventually, he pays the penalty in suffering, inconvenience, and medical bills.

The average American has ignored the erosion of our dollar. He has knuckled under while the courts and the power hungry social engineers in Washington have seized control of our schools, and used our children like pawns in a chess game to try to prove their unrealistic theories.

How many Americans have registered any protest against the laxity of our courts in dealing with criminals, and the severity directed toward harmless citizens even suspected of an infraction of tax rules?

Many of our Founding Fathers sacrificed their all to give us this great country. Can't we sacrifice a little time and effort to preserve it?

A society of sheep inevitably produces a government of wolves.

Tax Problems

By CARROLL WILSON

It is probable the tax system voted into being last Monday by Randall County commissioners will not be put into effect.

The system commissioners approved, raising rural real property taxes to a level commensurate with that of city real property, simply perpetuated the illegality of the old system.

Neither system would stand a court test. But, hopefully a court test will not be necessary. There is still time for commissioners to change the system so it is legal.

And, in fact a legal system would be more simple to operate than would the system the county now uses with its percentage and square footage factors.

Commissioners indicated in their Monday action that the public and the law can be damned. They were certainly not ignorant of the law. This paper has been alleging the system illegal for several weeks. Ignorance of the law is no excuse anyway.

But, there is another legal point to be considered in this tax system business.

If I'm not mistaken the county commissioners have no legal authority to do what they did Monday.

The job of working up the county tax system and assessing taxes belongs to the tax assessor-collector. Mrs. Audrey Bruse is supposed to be responsible for the system and its operation.

It is possible Mrs. Bruse's prerogatives have been usurped for some reason by the county commissioners and they feel they must set up the tax system.

But, as a matter of legality as well as good administration, Mrs. Bruse should have known the law of the land on the tax system and should have presented her own plan for making the system legal and workable.

Rather, she has allowed commissioners to assume her responsibilities.

Mrs. Bruse, I'm afraid is too involved in the mechanics of her office operation to spend much time ensuring an equitable and legal tax structure.

Computerization of the county tax rolls was a good thing. But, computerized tax rolls can be just as illegal as manual ones.

County commissioners are not tax experts. Nor are they legal experts.

But, they do have two experts at their call to advise them on the proper course to take in the tax structure. Unfortunately, commissioners have seen fit to take the advice of neither.

Either they have not taken the advice offered or they have not been offered the advice. I feel sure the district attorney's office has offered its advice. I'm not so sure about Mrs. Bruse.

If we're going to pay commissioners $7000 per year to do a job, let's get it done right.

Six years ago the Canyon Chamber of Commerce was involved in bickering and in-fighting among the local merchants. Little positive was being accomplished.

Today the chamber is again an important part of the community sponsoring such activities as last night's Canyon Days Celebration and Thursday's Fourth of July festivities.

The credit for the ascendency of the chamber goes to some people who've worked very hard, people like Eddie Knowles, Cary Magness, David West, John Childs, Ken Thompson and many others.

The chamber is doing a fine job of promoting Canyon and Canyon businesses and they are actively engaged in trying to find light industry for the area.

There is a vital function to be performed by any chamber and the Canyon chamber is certainly

Readin' And Writin'

By LORENA MILLER

Read where a veterinarian Leon Schwartz in the Chicago, Illinois area is making "house calls for sick pets." His reasoning is sound because he says that "a cat or dog used to certain surroundings and people often become upset when taken in a strange vehicle to a strange place full of frightening sights, sounds and smells only to be poked, prodded and stuck with unliked needles."

Guess in a way that is true of us all!

Pets are fun for the youngsters, companionship for the man of the house, and oftentimes "a chore" for mother as she makes sure they are fed, watered and "not into the flowerbeds."

Last week in Amarillo "the cat came back," he was a household alley cat belonging to the Gary Grogan family who are in the process of building a new home at Fritch. Spending more time at the new homesite than in the big city the family moved the cat, Winder, and his female counterpart to the new homesite in Fritch only to find him a few days later back in Amarillo. I've always heard of pets returning to their home from many miles away — but really didn't believe it before!

And sometimes there is occasion for a long-standing pet to save the life of its master such as was the case a number of years ago when Taft Reynolds, formerly of Canyon, now of Tulia was tending his chores with a penned boar hog.

Uncle Taft, as we in the Miller clan know him, had a big two-by-four plank of lumber as he alighted into the pen with the boar hog but after breaking it across the maddened hog's nose he had no defense when the boar grabbed the calf of his leg with his long sharp tusks and then into the pen jumped an old family dog, "Butch," who proceeded to divert the boar until Uncle Taft's son, Jim, could manage to get his dad out of the pen to safety.

Jim, who was in his early teens at the time, proceeded to bring his father to the hospital in Canyon. The highway south of town at that time was a two-lane thoroughfare and quite busy with traffic. Not having his driving license and quite scared of his father's condition — Jim moved the old truck onto the center line of the highway and let the traffic part for him as he honked his horn until police led him into the hospital with their sirens.

If it hadn't been for "Butch" and son, Jim, Uncle Taft might not be here to tell his story when the family gets together to rehash old times at the gathering planned this summer.

News Brief

Recuperating at home from recent hospital stays are Ray Campbell and Earl Hadley.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Caldwell have lived in Canyon for one month. They moved to Canyon from the Aleutian Islands. Prior to coming to Canyon they made a two and one-half months religious pilgrimmage around the world.

Caldwell's Move Following World Tour

Following a trip around the world, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Caldwell moved to Canyon. The Caldwell's now live at 2516 Eighth Avenue, Apt. 14.

Prior to their two and one-half month world tour, they lived on the Aleutian Islands. Caldwell grew up on the islands. He moved there with his family from Portland, Or. when he was four years old.

Caldwell said that the area was somewhat primitive. He stated that television had come to the island only this past year. The island that the Caldwell family lived on was 25 miles wide and 75 miles long. He said that his sister was born on the living room couch with the help of a mid-wife since there were no doctors or hospitals within 150 miles, all of which were across the sea.

Caldwell met his wife when she moved to the island to assist in spreading the Baha'i faith. This is also the reason that Caldwell's parents moved to the island. Mrs. Caldwell is from Austin. Caldwell said that they were engaged only three weeks after she moved to the island. He said, "With the 35 men to one woman ratio, I had to move fast."

On the island where they lived, a policeman was employed for the first time this past year. He said that with the 400 full time residents and the 2000 who lived there during the fishing season, there was a wild west atmosphere until the policeman was employed. He said that in one year there were six killings.

On the island there were three full time canneries and three seasonal canneries. Caldwell was a maintenance engineer at one of the canneries prior to coming to Canyon.

Caldwell said there was a lot of hunting, fishing, boating and skiing to be done on the island. He said that the wind blew much of the time on the island, just as it does here. Like this area, the island did not have trees.

Prior to their marriage, Caldwell spent two years in the Peace Corps in India. During their trip around the world, which was also a religious pilgrimmage to the city of Hifa, Israel, the home of the beginning of their faith, the young couple visited India. During their travels they visited shrines of their faith that were located in many of the lands they visited.

Mrs. Caldwell said that she enjoyed shopping in India, Iran and Hong Kong. She said that in India she wore the native dress of the people. She said that she enjoyed wearing the clothes because of the comfort. She said that it did not matter what shape a woman had, the sari made her look nice.

She stated that the weather in Iran was minus two degrees centigrade. Her husband accidentally stepped on her shoes and they cracked. Caldwell said that when his wife tried on a new pair of shoes he had to massage her foot so she could feel the end of the shoe with her toes to see if it fit.

The Caldwell's said that Indian food contained more spices than does Mexican food. They said that if one does not like the water in India there is always Coca-Cola or Fanta Orange in any village.

They moved to Canyon because WTSU is the only school they found that had both a good nursing school and a good agriculture school. They said that they liked Canyon because of the friendliness of the people here.

Caldwell is presently employed with Plains Builders doing construction work.

The concert will begin at 3 p.m. in the Branding Iron Theatre.

Mrs. Gibson plays Lily Blossom in the Amarillo Little Theatre summer production of "Deadwood Dick, or the Game of Gold." She was the 1973 winner of the Branding Iron Theatre Award for her performance in "Don Pasquale."

A 1969 graduate of Texas Tech, Mrs. Gibson is presenting the recital in partial fulfillment of the requirements for the Master of Music degree from West Texas State. She was a WTSU graduate assistant in voice for 1971-72, and she has served as a Chorale section leader the past two years.

Mrs. Gibson is a member of Schola Madrigalis and Mu Phi Epsilon.

She and her husband, John W., reside at 900 Seventh Avenue in Canyon. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. David L. Adams of Abilene.

The concert program includes Handel's "Agrippina," "Rinaldo" and "L'Allegro," and Chausson's "Le Charne," "Serenade Italienne," "Nocturne" and "Serenade."

Verdi's "Rigoletto" and "La Traviata" and Ned Rorem's "The mild Mother," "In a gondola," "See how they love me" and "The tulip tree."

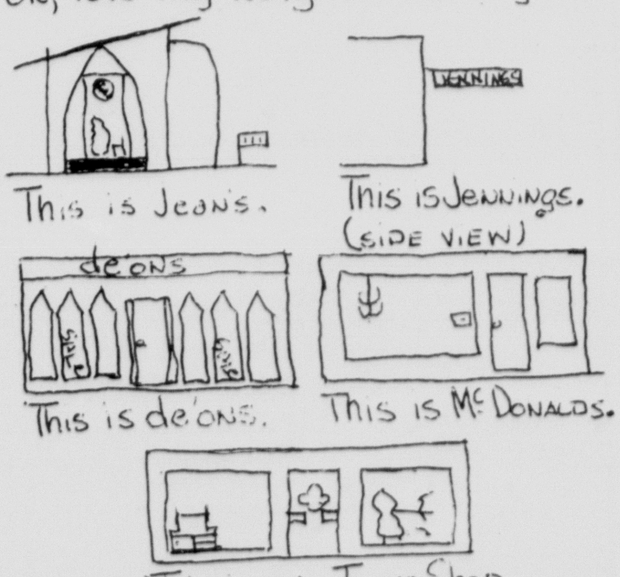

Griffes' "Elves," Poldowski's "Columbine" and de Gastyne's "Tres Morillas."

Mrs. Gibson is a student of Elsa Porter, assistant professor of music at WTSU. She will be accompanied by Raenell McDonough of Amarillo.

Tax Office To Close

The Randall County tax office will be closed Thursday and Saturday morning for the 4th of July holidays. They will be open for regular business on Friday, according to Mrs. Audrey Bruse, tax assessor-collector.

New Courses Set For Summer Term

"The Economist Views Society and Its Problems" will be a special topics course offered at West Texas State University the second summer term.

"A large part of what happens in our economy is what people think is going to happen in the future," says Economics Department Head Dr. Barry Duman, the course instructor.

"We hope by educating the population," Duman noted, "through isolating some of the causes of the present economic crises, we will be able to come up with some solutions."

Duman cites the goal of the course is to provide the citizens of the Panhandle with economic insight into various social, political and economic issues that they may be forced to deal with in their roles as businessmen, workers, public servants, voters and consumers.

The course will include topics such as the economics of discrimination, problems of pollution and ecological imbalance, inflation, economics of health and medical care and global economics.

"The need for this course is most apparent," Duman says, "when one considers the many economic and economic-related problems currently confronting the American citizen and more specifically the citizen of the Golden Spread region.

"The acute local nature of these problems becomes apparent when one notes that we have recently emerged from a period of agricultural recession in the face of high prices," Duman observes.

"Occurrences such as these have had dislocating effects on the producing and consuming publics and, coupled with the general confusion surrounding the wage-price controls, have forced our citizens to become more aware and involved in economic decisions and policies."

Economics 399-1, the Economist Views Society and Its Problems, requires no prerequisite courses. The class will consist of informal discussions and forums, with guest lectures when appropriate.

Registration for the course, which will be held from 9:10 - 10:40 a.m. on the WT campus, is July 15. For more information, contact the Dean of Admissions and Registrar, WTSU.

Human behavior and work will be the subject of study of a business administration course, Human Relations in Business, during the second summer session at West Texas State University.

"All people who work in organizations should find this course helpful," says instructor Dr. Zeke B. Marchant, professor of business and head of the Business Administration Department.

The class is scheduled from 10:50 a.m. - 12:20 p.m. Monday through Friday beginning July 16.

Registration for the second summer term will be July 15.

"This course is called human relations, organizational behavior or human behavior at work, and it is an integration of social sciences as they affect people at work," Marchant explains.

Special emphasis will be placed on employment discrimination, less advantaged persons, working with professional people, communicating with employees, employee counseling and incentive systems, he says.

For more information, contact the dean of admissions and registrar, or Dr. Zeke Marchant, WTSU.

Chamber Board To Eye Fourth

Directors of the Canyon Chamber of Commerce will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday to discuss the 4th of July celebration program.

They will also review the success of Saturday's Canyon Days Celebration.

Initial plans will be laid for the finding of a speaker for the annual chamber banquet which is held in the spring of the year.

sioners are given another chance to change their minds on the location of the tower.

Commissioners have decided at least three times on a location for the tower.

At one time, they decided to erect the tower on a four-acre site adjacent the city dump grounds.

But, the Federal Aviation Administration wouldn't allow the tower on that location because of interference with the flight pattern from a Canyon airport.

They also decided to erect the tower on the courthouse square but protests from citizens scotched that idea.

Businessman Lawrence contended in a News interview that only "three" businessmen had protested the erection of the tower on the square.

However, a News poll conducted early last week of businessmen around the square indicated only one merchant who favored the erection of the facility downtown.

Others referred to the tower as a "monstrosity," and an "eyesore."

Most of those polled said the tower should be moved to another location.

The tower, which cost $16,000, is part of a package furnished by the federal government to local law enforcement officials to upgrade radio equipment. It will tie in with radio operations in 25 other Texas Panhandle counties for better inter-communication.

tial application figures are indicative of a trend at the university.

"I'm really optimistic," he said.

He indicated the university will continue in the fall with its past emphasis on providing educational opportunities for persons not in the traditional college-age classification.

He said he feels during the past year many foundations were laid for the attraction of more non-traditional students.

Dr. Cates said he feels graduate enrollment at the university will probably remain equal to the past fall graduate count. Last fall, graduate students came to the university in ever-increasing numbers.

And, he said, increases in GI Bill benefits may also spur some renewed interest among veterans to return to the classroom.

For the first summer term, now in mid-session on the campus, final enrollment figures released last week indicate enrollment was down slightly from last summer's figures.

Final total was 2707 students as compared to 2754 last summer.

Cates said the university serves a different student body in the summer terms as compared to the regular fall and spring semesters. He said more students involved with teacher education are on campus in the summer.

After analyzing various statistical breakdowns of the two semesters, Cates noted that the percentage of education majors jumps from 29 per cent in the fall term to 40 per cent in the summer. This is due in part, he said, to recently mandated legislature requirements that teachers must take professional development coursework.

The number of freshmen on campus are also down in the summer when compared with ordinary freshman class size in the fall.

Registration for the second summer term begins July 15 and class for the five-week term begins July 16.

Center Evacuated

The Kilgore Research Center located on the WTSU campus was evacuated Thursday morning at 10 a.m. for a short period of time because of a gas leak.

The gas to the leaking pipe was cut off and the pipe will soon be repaired.

unless the advertising adequately discloses a time or quantity limit

*representing the price of property or service falsely or in a way tending to mislead *making a materially false or misleading statement of fact concerning the reason for, existence of or amount of a price or price reduction *conducting a deceptive sales contest

*making a materially false or misleading statement in an advertisement for the purchase or sale of property or service or otherwise in connection with the purchase or sale of property or service.

Even with the teeth of the act, Dowlen said criminal remedy would be hard to come by for consumers.

"The key to the thing under this Deceptive Business Practices statute is that the merchant has to intentionally or knowlingly violate the act," he said. "This is really pretty rare that you'd be able to prove it."

Nevertheless, Dowlen believes the act serves a purpose.

"This law was passed and intended certainly not to harrass or bother the legitimate merchants," he said. "It is intended to give some sort of control over the dishonest merchant."

Dowlen said it does require the merchant to do certain things.

"For example, one of the things in here is if you advertise something for sale and you know you don't have enough of the items to reasonably meet the public demand, then you have to, in your advertisement, say how many you have to sell," he said. "This should prevent someone from advertising that they have color TV sets for $100 and they do have one on sale for $100 but because of their advertisement they get a lot of people in their store and sell them $400 or $500 sets."

Dowlen said discussions with other prosecutors around the state indicate that the statute has been little called upon by consumers since its passage.

"It's brand new and people don't know about it," he said. "They take the attitude that 'I got cheated, but there's nothing I can do about it.' "

No Funds Available For Bicentennial

There are projects galore, but no funds available for the Randall County bi-centennial committee.

That's the assessment of Dr. Duane Guy, chairman of the local group, after the smoke settled following official recognition of the county as part of the overall fabric of the American Revolution Bicentennial effort.

Official recognition brought to the county no funds — just a flag and certificate.

Guy said federal officials here for the formal ceremony recently indicated the local committee can not count on the national government for any money. Nor can the committee look to the state committee for any funding, he said.

"It'll have to come primarily from local sources," Guy said.

He indicated no plans have been laid for any kind of a fund drive, but said various local groups may be called on to accomplish particular projects and provide in some manner for the funding.

"It's a very gloomy picture," he said.

On the bright side, Guy said some projects will require little or no funding.

In a way, Guy said, the prospect of no federal or state funds may have a bright side itself.

"Some major project would mean more to the community that way than if it was financed through the federal or state governments," he said.

Guy said the next meeting of the committee will have to come to grips with the financial problem to try to coordinate efforts at raising money or support.

The committee has planned several projects including the renovation of the old T-Anchor ranchhouse north of Canyon, establishment of a visitor and garden center at the site of the new South Randall County hospital, tracing of the trail of the explorer Coronado through the Palo Duro Canyon, and aid in financing a new sound and light production for showing in the canyon Pioneer Amphitheatre.

Taxes Become Delinquent

Additional penalty and interest charges will be tacked on all delinquent taxes beginning Monday.

Mrs. Audrey Bruse, county tax collector, said taxes not paid will be transferred to the delinquent tax rolls Monday and additional interest and penalty charges will be added. Transfer to the delinquent roll also means the district attorney's office may begin prosecution efforts to collect the taxes.

Astros Win Little League Major's Title

For the second year in a row the Astros of the Little League baseball major league won the championship. The Astros were 20 and 0 for the season record.

According to Sturdy Wanamaker, coach of the team, the Astros were never behind in any game played following the fourth inning. Only two games were close. Against the Braves and Red Legs, the Astros won by only one point.

An average score for all games played by the Astros was 19-6.

This was the third year for Wanamaker and his assistant Wayne Williams to coach the Astros. Williams works primarily with the pitchers. According to Wanamaker, the entire pitching staff has an ERA of less than 2.

Wanamaker said, "We had a real good group of parents." He stated that the parents cooperated with the coaches.

During the season, the team compiled 33 home runs. Ken Walling hit 14 homers and Jack Hayes had 8 to lead the team.

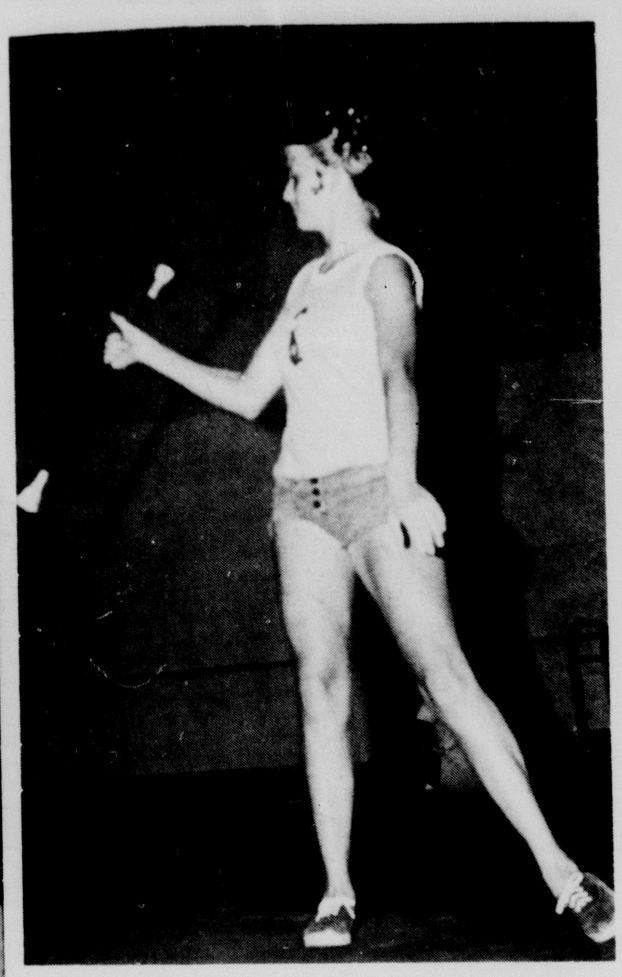

The team has now compiled a record of 27 wins and no losses including seven straight wins from last year's season.

They were also major league champions last year. That year they won the championship by only three games.

Twelve year olds who played for the team this year and will not be eligible to play next year include Joe Cockerell, Kenny Cates, Robert Johnson, Terry Miller and Hayes. The Astros will have seven returning for play next year.

Tyra Webb, center, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Webb, was named Miss Hunsley Hills 1974. Others involved in the pageant are Keri Beth Davidchik, first runner-up, Allison Pride, second runner-up and Manners, Michele Pride, third runner-up, and Lisa Burkett. Judges for the contest were Danielle Byrd, Miss Hunsley Hills 1973, and Abbejane White, Miss Hunsley Hills 1972. This is the third year for the contest.

Fundamentals of twirling are being taught during the summer recreation program in Canyon. These youngsters are learning the basic actions of the twirler.

Williams Named To Fill Junior High Coach Vacancy

Ken Williams, a 1974 graduate of WTSU, will this fall begin duties as junior high coach and history teacher for Canyon Junior High School.

"I love kids and I think that is what it is all about," stated Williams. He said that he wanted to teach youngsters a philosophy of a winning way of life. He said that he started on the junior high level of coaching because the jump from college graduate to high school coach does not give the needed experience found in junior high coaching.

Ken Williams

Williams is not sure whether he will work with eighth or ninth grade athletics. The coaching assignments have not been made yet.

Williams graduated from Tascosa High School in Amarillo where he played football and baseball. He was also a member of the Tascosa American Legion baseball team that went to state twice.

During this summer, Williams is coaching the Canyon American Legion Baseball team which is presently tied for first place in the South Zone of their district.

Williams is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Williams, former Canyon residents. His father played football and basketball for Canyon High School.

Census Bureau Conducting Survey Here

Home upkeep and improvement expenditures will be the subject of a nationwide survey to be taken by the Bureau of the Census in a sampling of Canyon and Randall County households.

Interviews will be taken during the period, June 27 - July 10, and information reported to the Census Bureau is held in strict confidence by law with reports to be published in the terms of totals only.

The survey is taken four times yearly to provide a continuing measure of this segment of America's economy. The sample of households here are among the approximate 6,000 throughout the United States that will be asked about alterations, repairs, and additions to their homes.

Total expenditures for the upkeep and improvement of residential properties amounted to $18.8 billion (seasonally adjusted annual rate) in third quarter 1973, up from the rate of $17.0 billion for the second quarter. More than half ($10.7 billion) was spent for construction improvements such as additions, alterations, and major replacements. The remainder ($8.1 billion) went for maintenance and repairs.

Swimming Classes At WTSU Nearing Cut Off Mark

Though toddler classes for July 1-12 sessions are closed, swimming classes at WTSU does have a few openings left for beginners, advanced beginners and intermediate classes. Cost for the class is $15 for WTSU affiliated people and $20 for non-WTSU affiliated.

Pre-registration for the session beginning July 15 will be held next week. Those interested are invited to call the WTSU pool from 3 p.m. until 8 p.m. for information. Classes are limited in size. Only six children are in each class.

Classes for the August session will be announced soon.

There will be no toddlers classes during the July 15 session which will also last for two weeks. Toddler classes will be offered in the August session.

Any children interested in the new WTSU swim team and competitive swimming are to have their parents call the pool at WTSU for more information.

Adults interested in swimming classes are invited to contact Jackie Stephens or Nina Tucker at 656-3466, the WTSU pool number. If enough interest is shown, a class will be formed.

Long Jump Competitor Signs With WT

Curtis Lindley from Texico, N.M., who was unbeaten in three years of high school long jumping competition, has signed an athletic scholarship agreement with West Texas State University track coach Bob Kitchens.

Lindley was the high point man in the Class AA division of the New Mexico state track meet both his junior and senior years — establishing new records in the 100-yard dash and the long jump his senior year.

As a sophomore he won the state long jump title with a 21-11 effort. He totaled 19¼ points at the state meet during his junior year — taking second place in the 100-yard dash with 10.1, winning the 220 in 23.0 and the long jump with a 22-3 effort.

The 6-2, 170-pound athlete ran 9.8 to win the 100-yard dash at the state meet this past spring in a record clocking for Class AA. He won the 220 in 22.3 and his 23-9 effort in the long jump was also first place. The 23-9 effort came in the preliminaries, but the win allowable for records was too much by one mile per hour. He leaped 23-5¼ in the finals the following day and, as there was no wind that afternoon, that mark is recorded as the state record.

The long jump record set this spring cracked one of the two oldest records in New Mexico.

On the second place 880-yard relay anchor lap, Lindley ran a 21.3 time. Texico placed second to Jal in the running for the team championship, after a fourth place finish in 1973.

"Curtis always does what is asked of him and does it without supervision," said Texico coach W.B. Walters. "He has tremendous spring for long jumping. Despite the fact he was recording good distances, he still was chopping his steps down the runway. In time, when he gets that corrected, he can progress even further with his jumping."

One of Lindley's stronger points is the fact he was highly consistent with his jumping this spring. He was over 23-feet in each of his final four meets. He leaped 23-4, 23-4¼, 23-2½ and 23-9 in those final four competitions.

"Curtis is one of the finer prospects to ever be recruited at West Texas State," said Kitchens. "He has a fine attitude toward work and his potential is great."

Besides being a standout in track, Lindley was a three-year starter for Texico High in both football and basketball.

In football he played quarterback and safety. He earned Class AA all-state first team honors both his junior and senior years as a safety. He was an honorable mention all-state pick this past fall as a quarterback.

The son of Mrs. Ruthie Lindley maintained a B average in the classroom. He was elected Senior Class President at Texico High and plans to major in physical education at West Texas State.

Interest in American Legion baseball seems to continue increasing in Canyon. Especially now since the local team is in a two way tie for first place in the South Zone of their district with Plainview.

The locals will also be hosting the district tournament at the Babe Ruth field here July 24-27. The two top teams in both zones will compete in the tournament. The winner of the tournament will advance to the state playoffs to be held at Plainview this year.

Leaders in the South Zone are Canyon, Plainview and Caprock. Leading the NorthZone are Dumas and Tascosa.

According to Canyon's coach Ken Williams, the whole team is beginning to hit and play ball. Williams said that he was playing all members of the team and was pleased with the results. He stated there is a cohesiveness among the players. "They would break bats for one another now."

The Canyon team will play Amarillo High American Legion today at Thompson Park No. 2 in Amarillo at 3 p.m. Wednesday night, the team will return home for a game against Dumas at 8 p.m. Fans are encouraged to attend these two games and support the locals. Canyon should be able to muster as many fans for the American Legion games as the Amarillo Giants do for theirs.

One of the Canyon players to keep an eye on is Ed Lair. Lair, who has signed a letter of intent with Oklahoma State University, has been at bat over 40 times this season and is presently hitting .585.

In his last two outings on the mound, Lair has pitched a one hitter and a no hitter. College scouts are beginning to notice that Canyon has a baseball program.

Another player to watch is Wayne Pitt. At least, the scouts are keeping their eyes on him.

Special praise goes to Canyon officers of Little League baseball for the fine job they did this year for the program. With few hitches, the program has run smoothly. Officers are hoping that next year all the problems will be alleviated and the program will be even better.

Officers for this year have included Dee Nix, president; Dan White, vice president; Weyman Brown, vice president in charge of finance; Frank Castleberry, player agent; Jeanie Miller, secretary and Cordell Huddleston, treasurer. Other board members include Charlotte McClure, Betty Davis, Elaine Peeples, Jack Rook and Frank Davis.

Baseball fans in Canyon will also find special interest in the Babe Ruth tournament that will be held in Canyon July 1-4. This will be a 13-year-old All-Star double elimination tourney. Teams from Dumas, Panhandle, Oklahoma, Borger, Pampa and Canyon.

This week Ron Mills, head football coach for Canyon High School, talks about centers. Mark Collier, Bob Lindsey and Drew Hetzler will be in the running for the center position on the Canyon High varsity.

Collier, a 200 pound, six foot senior, lettered last year as a tackle on the varsity. With his experience, Collier seems to have the inside track but a good battle for the position will probably evolve.

Lindsey, a junior, stands 5 feet 10 inches tall and weighs 190 pounds. Lindsey started at center for the junior varsity this past year. He will also be playing at the defensive guard position some this year. Lindsey is extremely strong in blocking straight ahead, according to Mills.

Hetzler, a 6 foot, 200 pound sophomore, will also try for the center position. Hetzler, who will play high school ball for the first time this year, will also play some at the offensive and defensive tackle position. Hetzler, for his age and size, moves good, according to Coach Mills.

This position is one to watch for the coming year. Canyon will need to fill this position with the best possible candidate. According to Mills, the center will go against the best and quickest 180 to 220 pound player the opposition has for the nose guard position.

It should be tough going against the nose guard from the six 4-A schools on the schedule.

Two Locals Place In Junior Tournaments

Bill Turner tied for first place but lost out in the PGA Junior Golf Tournament held at Hunsley Hills Tuesday. Turner placed second with an 81. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Turner of Canyon Country Club.

Bryan Garner placed first at the Thursday Tascosa Junior PGA Tournament with a 77. He was also first Friday at Dimmitt Junior PGA Tourney with a 79.

Beghtels Return From Visiting In Indiana Hometown

Mr. and Mrs. Arden Beghtel recently returned from a visit to Fort Wayne, Ind. Although Arden considers himself a Texan, he was born there. It was his first visit back in 13 years.

They were visiting his sister, Mrs. Calvin Johnson and family of Fort Wayne. Most of their time was spent at the Johnson's cottage on Big Long Lake.

The lake and some surrounding farms were struck by tornados earlier. The Johnsons were fortunate to have had only minor damage. The land was lush and green with more tall trees then these Texans had seen in a long time.

Mr. Beghtel, who is a private pilot, flew and his wife Ann navigated a four-seated plane. Considering they only got lost once going up, and once coming back, seemed pretty good to Ann. It was only the second time she had been up! The trip was thoroughly enjoyed by both and they hope to fly more often in the future.

Blending Main Meals

"Blender Tricks For Moderns" was the topic of recent programs presented by Becky Hall, Randall County Home Demonstration Agent, for the local clubs in the county.

In addition to sharing the tricks for using the blender with the clubwomen, Mrs. Hall has shared the tricks and ideas for using the blender with our many readers along with selected recipes which incorporate using the blender in the past several issues of the Canyon News and Canyon Sunday News, and it is hoped that all homemakers have enjoyed these recipes.

Blender recipes presented by Mrs. Hall for this issue include a Meat Loaf, Coconut Cream Pie and Lemon Pudding Sauce.

Meat Loaf

Into container tear
2 slices fresh bread

Cover and blend on high speed for 8 seconds. Empty crumbs into bowl and add 2 pounds ground lean beef and ½ pound ground lean pork. Into container put 2 eggs
½ cup tomato juice
1 medium onion, quartered
1 stalk celery with leaves, coarsely cut
2 teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce

Cover and blend on high speed for 30 seconds. Add to meat and crumbs. Mix thoroughly. Pack into loaf pan and bake in a preheated 350° F. oven for 1½ hours. Serves 8.

Coconut Cream Pie

4-ounce package shredded coconut
2 cups cold milk
4 packages vanilla pudding mix
4 cups hot milk
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 teaspoons vanilla
½ teaspoon almond extract
2 baked 9-inch pastry shells

Put coconut, cold milk and pudding mix in blender container; cover and blend till coconut is finely cut, about 1 minute. Pour blend into hot milk in a 2-quart double boiler or heavy-bottomed kettle. Bring to boil, stirring constantly. Remove from heat; add butter or margarine flavorings. Cool to room temperature and pour into pastry shells. Chill till set; top with whipped cream before serving. Makes 2 nine-inch pies.

Lemon Pudding Sauce

1 cup warm water
Yellow rind of ½ lemon
¼ cup lemon juice
1 tablespoon cornstarch
½ cup sugar
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1/16 teaspoon salt
1/16 teaspoon nutmeg

Put all ingredients in blender container; cover and blend until lemon rind is finely grated, about 1½ minutes. Pour into saucepan and bring to boil, stirring constantly. Serve warm over Cottage Pudding. Makes 1½ cups.

For her daughter's wedding, the mother of the bride wore a floor length gown of green starlight crepe featuring a belted waist, gathered skirt and short sleeves and carried a white lace handkerchief. Centering the reception table was a floral arrangement of yellow roses with white daisies and the bouquets of the bride and her attendants.

For the wedding trip, the bride changed to blue knit dress flocked with pink and green flowers which she complemented with a corsage lifted from the bridal bouquet.

University Club Earns 4 Awards In Stated Events

Canyon's University Study Club earned four state awards this past year which were presented at the workshop session of Texas Federation of Women's Clubs held Wednesday in Amarillo at the clubhouse of the Amarillo Federation of Women's Clubs in Wolflin Village.

In the general club division: University Study Club received two first places and two seconds. Their awards included a first in projects for public education and a first in yearbook competition at the state convention. Second places were in education, scholarship and student aid division and a second in continuing education and libraries.

Having moved to Canyon during a dust storm, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Moscoe and son, Bobby said they have "tasted" the Panhandle weather. The Moscoe family, who have lived in cities of various sizes, say that each city has its own beauty.

Family Finds Beauty In Every Size City

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Moscoe and three-year-old son Robert moved to Canyon just in time to experience a Panhandle dust storm. Moscoe said the dust storm hit just as they were unloading the furniture at their home.

The Moscoe family, who live at 1000 Holly Lane, moved to Canyon from Denver, Colo. where they had lived for the past 18 months.

Being in government service, the family has lived in Washington, D.C., Denver and now in Canyon. Mrs. Moscoe said that they had moved several times because of her husband's job training since going into government service. She said, "This time I threw away the boxes." She said that the family hopes to stay in Canyon at least five years.

Moscoe, a graduate of Old Dominion University in Norfolk, Va., is personnel director at Helium Operations in Amarillo.

The Moscoes said that they enjoyed Canyon very much. They were drawn into Canyon when Moscoe was in Amarillo for an interview for his present job. They visited Palo Duro Canyon and when they drove through Canyon they decided to move here, if he got the job.

Another attraction to Mr. and Mrs. Moscoe was WTSU. Both plan to do graduate work.

They agreed that the Panhandle weather is fascinating.

Moscoe said, "Having lived in a metropolitan area of six million, then moving to an area of one million and now in the Canyon-Amarillo area, we have found every size to have its own beauty."

Moscoe said that this is just a great country full of beautiful things.

Mrs. Moscoe was born and grew up in Norfolk, Va. Moscoe said that he grew up "from sea to shining sea" because his father was in the Navy.

Ward Captures Western Life

By LORENA MILLER

Jim Ward looks out his picture window in his home studio and "sees an expanse of the western plains surrounding his home south of Canyon." From his outside glance Ward captures the flora, fauna, horses and the western cowboy on canvas.

The painter-sculptor of western art says he "took up art on his own" and had not really painted much until after college although he was interested in sketching and drawing while a child.

"I was rodeoing — and would go on into the rodeo towns a few days ahead of the crew to paint bucking horses on windows advertising the upcoming rodeo," he said, relating that he received $5 for a window for his art back then.

"I got out of active competition in rodeoing back in 1963 and along about then entered my first art show in Lubbock at the Texas Fine Arts competition," said Ward. His entry there received a citation and was sent on to Austin for showing. At the time, Ward and his family were living at Muleshoe where his employment was with the state in appraisal of land.

The Wards, Jim and his wife, Jackie, were married in 1954. They moved to Canyon in December ten years later where Jackie would have the opportunity to finish her degree as an elementary teacher. She now teaches second grade in Amarillo along with making a home for her husband and their three children.

Mary Beth, eldest of the Ward's children, is a sophomore student at West Texas State University and sons, Jimmy and Gary, are both Canyon High School students. Jimmy will be a senior this fall and Gary is a sophomore.

Although the boys and Mary Beth have all dabbled in art, they are presently more interested in their own activities such as football where Jimmy was an all-district fullback last year.

"They show definite talent though" said Ward noting that he sometimes uses his children for models in his painting. And the horses wandering around in the pastureland can be seen from his studio for realistic models used in his paintings.

"I've done a lot of magazine cover work and illustrated a number of articles for various magazines," he said. He was a charter member of the Texas Cowboy Artists Association which he currently serves as vice president. He will become the president of the group in 1975, according to the by-laws of succession.

"I don't do much painting on commission," said Ward. "I like freelance work and want the art collector to like my painting well enough to buy it himself."

His paintings and sculpture are available at all times at Hall's Gallery in Lubbock, Cross Gallery in Fort Worth, Country Store Gallery in Austin and are placed on consignment and for direct sale with various other galleries of art.

Ward will have several paintings showing at the Amarillo Art Center during July. His works will be among those being featured from the Texas Cowboy Artists Association in a special exhibit for the bi-centennial kickoff there. In addition to paintings the commemorative coins of the various counties will be featured along with Ward's commemorative coin for Randall County.

Opening July 3, the show "When You Say Cowboy" will also include a full color catalog featuring works by each of the renowned western artists involved which will be for sale.

The Farnum Company, which deals in various lines of ranching, horse care products, recently selected four United States artists to present two paintings from their works for reproduction in a "Great Western Art Series" and Ward had two works selected for the promotional series.

"I've also signed a long term contract with the Progressive Farmer Association for exclusive reproduction rights to my paintings," said Ward. Ward and other western artists of the Texas Cowboy Art Association are also responsible for illustrations to be used in a book about "cowboy life" which will be published by Oxmore House, the book division of Progressive Farmer, to be released in the fall of 1975. He also has a portfolio of western art available through the Southern Living magazine.

"I like painting over sculpture because of the buyer's interest, but find that sculpture work is a relaxation from painting too," stated Ward who is one of the few sculptors who "does his own bronze castings."

His most recent sculpture casting is "The Hot Iron Man" which depicts a weathered cowboy with his branding iron. It is among sculpture and paintings used in the family home for authenticity as the Wards are remodeling their house, located ½ mile east of Dreamland.

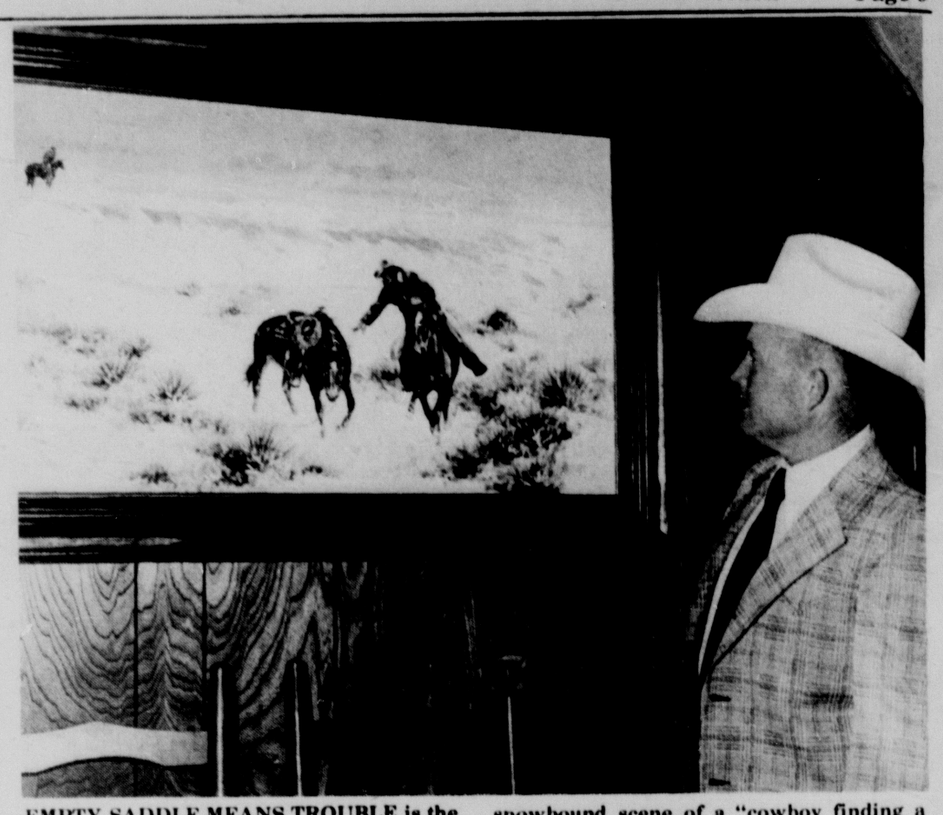

"We are decorating to suit our own style of living," said the Wards. The old style home was originally the Scott House located where Vaughn Plaza was built. Bought by the Wards, the home was moved to the country in 1965 and located on a 35 acre plot where the Wards keep horses in the pasture and his father, Willie Ward, is in charge of the horse barn.

The horses are used for models in Ward's paintings, but also give pleasure to the entire riding family as they are active members of the Randall County Sheriff's Posse.

Framing the house is a stacked crosstie fence, flower beds with cacti and yucca, and inside is a casual western atmosphere where Ward spends his time promoting the west through his capture of "past and present cowboys and their life on canvas and in bronze sculpture."

Bob Wards Visit

Bob Ward was visiting in the home of his brother, Jim Ward, and with his father, Willie Ward, at Canyon this week. Bob Ward is with the United States Navy at Virginia Beach and was accompanied by his wife, Doris, and two young daughters, Karen Lee and Sharon Kay.

EMPTY SADDLE MEANS TROUBLE is the appropriate title for Jim Ward's most recent painting effort as he describes the snowbound scene of a "cowboy finding a riderless horse."

THE HOT IRON MAN is the newest sculpture effort by Jim Ward, Canyon artist, who is known for his capture of western art in both bronze and painting.
